THE CLEWER INITIATIVE

The Clewer Initiative is a charity which works to prevent and combat modern slavery and exploitation through equipping church action. Based on our belief that the tools to tackle modern slavery lie within communities. We work with local churches and communities to build awareness and resilience, and support vulnerable groups.

Alongside a range of projects, we have also created a range of successful online courses and training resources to help teach appropriate groups about specific areas of modern slavery and community resilience. You can find out more about our work or sign up to our online courses via our website: www.clewer.org.uk

This resource was developed with materials, inspiration and support from Paul Cavagin, Serious Organised Crime Police Officer from Cumbria Constabulary, and PS Tatton of the Citizens in Policing Department and the Cumbria Mini Police for contributing to this material.
